DRBC Has First Hearing On Plan

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—State Sen. Wayne Dumont, R-Phillipsburg, N.J., Wednesday cautioned the Delaware River Basin Commission against trying to get too much too fast.

Dumont was one of some 25 witnesses heard at the first public hearing on the commission's plans for development of the four-state Delaware River basin.

Too Many Dams

He suggested the commission included too many dams in its plan and might fail to obtain enough funds from the states involved for what he termed the main dams at Tocks Island, about five miles upstream from the Delaware Water Gap.

The commission, formed last year after approval by the legislatures of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware and the U.S. Congress, is charged with working out development of

News In Brief

Khrushchev And Ulbricht Confer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev concluded a secret conference with East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht with an announcement Wednesday he had granted credit to the hungry nation, possibly to help ward off trouble.

The announcement of the two-day meeting was made through the official Soviet news agency Tass and radio. Ulbricht returned to East Germany Wednesday.

It precipitated an immediate surmise in diplomatic quarters that Khrushchev had granted credits to East Germany to make it easier for Ulbricht to receive some unpleasant news.

Nehru Strong In Indian Elections

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru with his firebrand sidekick, Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, had a clear road to continued dominance of India's affairs Wednesday as votes piled up for them in national election returns.

Nehru, as expected, easily retained his seat in Parliament and Menon was so far ahead in Bombay that leaders of the opposition conceded defeat.

Nehru's Congress Party, though faltering in some areas, was assured of control of the new Parliament without a single opposition voice strong enough to seriously challenge the organization once headed by Mohandas K. Gandhi.

Questioning Of Powers Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An appearance of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers before congressional committees investigating his spy-plane flight over Russia was apparently delayed Wednesday night until sometime next week.

The postponement developed when John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, informed the groups he would have to put off a scheduled briefing Thursday on the interrogation of Powers.

McCone said he had not had time to complete his review of a report prepared by the special board of inquiry that questioned Powers.

Job Training Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Wednesday a $263-million job training bill designed to start moving the long-term unemployed back into productive work.

A 354-62 roll call vote, with Republicans lending strong support, cleared the way for a House-Senate conference to work out a final version of the bill, which carries a high administration priority.

Early Peace Pact Expected In French-Algerian Conflict

PARIS (AP) — French and Algerian rebel spokesmen agreed Wednesday night that a final round of negotiations to end the 7½-year-old Algerian nationalist rebellion will open soon, perhaps by the end of the week.

In Tunis, Algerian rebel sources said French and nationalist delegations will meet Saturday or Sunday.

Bushkill Represented

Capt. Harold Auten, representing the Bushkill Business Men's Association, Pike County, said most of the village would be inundated by the Tocks reservoir, and asked help in moving the town to higher ground, and reconstruction.

Three persons sought to have the commission establish its headquarters in their city—Sen. Dumont for Phillipsburg; Robert J. Laub for Easton, and Ralph C. Frederick for the Port Jervis, N. Y., area.

Various Opinions

Francis A. Pitkin, director of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board and chairman of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, gave full endorsement. He said the plan "can help shape better basic environment and make the area still more attractive to healthy economic growth." The plan ties in closely with Pennsylvania's proposed "Project 70" for purchase of park lands, he said.

Adams said the project meshes also with New Jersey's Green Acres program.

Samuel S. Baxter, Philadelphia water commissioner, said his city supports the program generally, but expressed concern that emphasis should be given to water quality as well as quantity. He suggested a comprehensive study of ways to improve quality.

William A. Jacoby, Allentown city engineer, said Allentown is especially interested in water supply from the proposed Trexler dam near Allentown, as well as flood control it will afford in Jordan Creek.

Rudolph Ludwig, representing the Pike County Soil Conservation District, said his own farm will be inundated when the Tocks Island dam is in place. He supported the plan, however, but suggested measures be taken to ease the effect as much as possible on those who will be displaced.

day somewhere along the French-Swiss frontier to put the finishing touches to an agreement ending the conflict.

Eventual Independence

The agreement would provide for Algeria's self-determination and eventual independence.

In Paris, a French Cabinet spokesman hinted the talks would be held some time this weekend.

The announcement followed a meeting of the Cabinet ministers with President de Gaulle. They heard a report from Louis Joxe, minister for Algerian affairs, who conducted the secret negotiations with the Algerian nationalists for a cease-fire.

No Major Obstacles

A statement by the rebel parliament, the 54-member National Council of the Algerian Revolution indicated no major obstacles remain. The rebel information minister, Mohammed Yazid, told newsmen in Tunis the "ultimate phase" comes next.

Yazid said the logical windup would be the end of the rebellion, complicated in recent months by terrorist killings from Moslems who want immediate independence and Frenchmen who want to keep Algeria French.

Referendum

The terms, approved by France's cabinet last week, provide for a military cease-fire and a later referendum in which the people of Algeria—about nine million North Africans and one million of European extraction—would decide their own future. This is expected to be independent.

The gavel fell in the House at 4:13 p.m. and in the Senate 18 minutes later. The official time of adjournment was 4:30 p.m.

In the last major business of the session, the House gave its approval to an amendment to the state constitution which would authorize a $70 million bond issue for acquisition of land for parks, reservoirs and other conservation, recreation and historical purposes. The Senate previously had approved the amendment.

It also must be approved by the next legislature before going to the voters for final adoption.

Although the terms of the legislators do not end until Nov. 30, they cannot meet again unless Gov. Lawrence calls it.

We're On Our Way!

With the announcement today that Rep. Francis E. Walter is introducing action-legislation on the Tocks Island national recreation area, and the initial hearing of the Delaware River Basin Commission on the project yesterday, the people of this section of the Delaware Valley can look forward to early action on the plan.

In recent months, especially since the creation of the Basin Commission, the plan for Tocks Island dam and reservoir as well as for the national recreation area has gained impetus from many sources. Since its inception, the project has garnered the complete support of Secretary of the Interior Udall, and it now has the backing of no less a person than President Kennedy himself.

While the Tocks Island plan has the interest of the four states involved and the Federal government, it has even a more vital interest to the people of our own area since it will affect living and working conditions here for generations to come.

True, there will be some displacement of homes and businesses, but the overall picture of benefit to the area so greatly overshadows these that they become infinitesimal except to the actual individuals concerned. It is naturally expected, however, that they will be fairly reimbursed for their displacement.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has evidenced its preparedness to meet the challenge by its interest in and approval of Governor Lawrence's farsighted "Project 70" which is right in line with proper recreational development of the Tocks Island reservoir area.

For the first time in three decades of pleading and planning, the project has assumed the atmosphere of imminence, and the people of the Delaware Valley can be assured that it will become a reality in the near future. The next move, as we understand it, is for the Corps of Engineers to draw up concrete plans and ask for the appropriations necessary to see them through. Funds for this have been virtually assured as soon as the required figure is determined.

The Delaware Valley is well on its way to bigger and better things for all of its residents, and it is of paramount importance that every individual assist the cause in any way that he can.

Getting Ready For Another Great Leap Forward?

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Governor Nelson Rockefeller is being strongly advised to get some new speech writers.

Foremost among GOP leaders favoring this is National Chairman William Miller.

He and other party chiefs feel Rockefeller's speech writers are giving him blundering guidance.

As one Republican leader expressed it, "They're writing the wrong speeches for the wrong places."

Cited as the latest instance of this was Rockefeller's Lincoln Day address in Syracuse, N.Y., in which he caustically blasted the Kennedy Administration as playing politics on civil rights. While Miller heartily agrees with this view, he is credited as arguing that Syracuse was not the place for such a speech.

Main targets of these back-stage critics are one-time newsmen Emmett Hughes and Hugh Morrow. The latter particularly is under fire.

A former Philadelphia and Washington reporter, Morrow wrote speeches for Senator Kenneth Keating, R., N.Y., in his 1958 campaign. After several years as Keating's administrative assistant, Morrow joined Rockefeller's staff.

The Syracuse talk is being attributed largely to him.

Hughes, 42-year-old one-time Democrat, has been a top Rockefeller policy adviser since 1958 when Rockefeller was overwhelmingly elected Governor of New York, while the Democrats were scoring heavily in other states. A news magazine correspontent, Hughes wrote speeches for President Eisenhower in 1952.

Outstanding among these talks was the one in which the GOP standard-bearer declared, "I shall go to Korea"—a promise he made good immediately after his election.

A member of Eisenhower's original White House staff, Hughes left because of disappearance of the late Secretary John Foster Dulles' foreign policy.

In 1958, Hughes played a leading role in Rockefeller's spectacular gubernatorial race both as a speech writer and political strategist.

In December 1959, Hughes incurred considerable resentment among Rockefellers partisans for reputedly influencing his sudden withdrawal from the Republican presidential scramble.

This gave Vice President Nixon a clear field for the party's nomination.

Other Rockefeller speech writers are:

John Franklin Carter, one-time New Dealer who switched to former Governor Thomas Dewey and became one of his brain-trusters and speech writers; Horace Craig, who worked under Rockefeller when he was a federal official; Emmett Hobbing, former magazine writer; and Malcolm Moos, one-time political science teacher who was on President Eisenhower's White House staff as a speech writer.

Soon after the New York

can senatorial scramble in New Hampshire may become even more so. In addition to the four candidates who have announced, Robert Hill, former popular Ambassador to Mexico, is seriously considering throwing his hat into the ring. Now a member of the State Legislature and a director of United Fruit, Hill has undertaken several important diplomatic missions in the explosive Caribbean for President Kennedy. . . Senator John Tower, 36-year-old Texas Republican, is the second most-sought-after GOP speaker. Although a national figure less than a year, Tower is running a close second to Senator Barry Goldwater as a party orator. In the past month, the 5 foot 6 inch Texan addressed Republican gatherings from Boston to Anchorage, and from Fargo, N.D., to El Paso. His favorite opening pitch is, "My name is Tower, but as you can see, I don't." Sometimes he adds, "I have a special dispensation of the Texas Chamber of Commerce allowing me to be one foot less than the legal minimum height for Texans." On his office wall is a photograph of a World War II Navy buddy inscribed, "To John Tower, without whose help I could not have won the war in the Pacific."

Writers And Talkers—Senators are turning to columnists. Seven of them are now writing columns for home state papers about life in Washington and other matters. The budding columnists are Mrs. Dorothy Bush, wife of Senator Prescott Bush, R., Conn.; Mrs. Marian Javits, wife of Senator Jacob Javits, R., N.Y.; Mrs. Elsie Williams, wife of Senator John Williams, R., Del.; Mrs. Ellen Proxmire, wife of Senator William Proxmire, R., Wis.; Mrs. Abigail McCarthy, wife of Senator Eugene McCarthy, D., Minn.; Mrs. Lorraine Cooper, wife of Senator John Sherman Cooper, R., Ky.; Mrs. Lorraine McGee, wife of Senator Gale McGee, D., Wyo.

The Democratic and Republican spokesmen at the Gridiron Club's annual dinner this month will be HEW Secretary Ribooff and Senator Barry Goldwater. They are already busy compiling quips and barbs to toss at each other . . . Representative Carl Vinson, D., Ga., veteran chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, is laughingly pooh-poohing reports he plans to retire. Hale and hardy at 76, the noted legislator, who is known as the "father of the modern Navy and Air Force," says, "If anyone thinks I am about to quit public office, I know of no better way to answer them than to paraphrase the words of John Paul Jones—I have just begun to serve."

Convicted Killer Wins Another Round In Court

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Convicted killer John Butler won another round yesterday in his fight to escape the electric chair the week of March 5 for the 1969 pistol slaying of a Northumberland County sheriff.

Judge Herbert P. Sorg of the U.S. District Court ordered a continuance on Butler's stay of execution pending the outcome of Butler's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

The order followed a two-hour hearing in which Marjorie Matson, counsel for the condemned man, argued that Butler's constitutional rights were violated during his trial.

Mrs. Matson was given until next Monday to file a brief. The prosecution, represented by William C. Smith, assistant district attorney of Allegheny County, has until the following Monday to file a brief.

However, Mrs. Matson said she plans to appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals if the petition for a writ is denied. This would delay Butler's execution indefinitely.

Butler was scheduled to die in the electric chair the week of March 5. But Judge Sorg granted a stay of execution last Feb. 8.

Mrs. Matson claimed Butler's constitutional rights were violated several times during his trial. She particularly objected to the use of a court-appointed doctor who gave testimony favoring the prosecution.

Butler was convicted in Allegheny County Court in 1960 for shooting Sheriff John R. Lauer. Butler was being transported from the Northumberland County jail to the Western Penitentiary when the shooting occurred in a moving car outside of Pittsburgh.

Few Changes In Retirement Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—Few companies have changed their retirement practices since 1965 despite much public discussion of when employees should be retired, the National Industrial Conference Board reported.

Only 44 of 700 companies surveyed reported changes. Of the 44 companies, all but one had imposed greater restrictions on work-

49 Retired Pullman Cars Get 'Exercise' At Depot

FORTY-NINE railway Pullman cars that have seen better days sit in lonely retirement at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot. Once a month they are hooked up to a locomotive and taken for a short ride down the tracks.

This "exercise" is prescribed in a Government contract, which brought the cars to the depot three years ago. During the brief run, air brake equipment is tested, and a self-lubricating process takes place in the journal boxes under the cars.

The depot car consignment is part of a group of 300 the Pullman Company planned to scrap in 1958. Aware that a national emergency might leave the U.S. without sufficient troop carriers, the Army asked to store them on a rental basis.

When the rents paid by the Government recently equaled the estimated scrap value of the cars, payments ceased. But ownership still rests with the Pullman Company, with the Army fully responsible for any damage to the cars.

One Returned

The depot originally received 50 cars, but one was returned on request to the Pullman Company last year.

The only other Signal Corps installation that acquired some of the cars is Lexington Signal Depot, which stores 25.

Although ancient by modern standards, the cars are air-conditioned and contain comfortable seats.

When they were brought out in a recent troop exercise, Eddie Kamens, of the deputy commander's staff, thought he recognized one of them. It was the Lake Pooyan. Kamens knew he had seen that name before, and after plumbing his memory, it came to him. The Lake Pooyan was the train that, during World War II, took him from basic training with the Air Corps in Atlantic City to his next assignment in Chicago.

During a periodic test run of the cars last year, some visiting school children were given a free train ride around the installation. For many of them it was their first experience with real trains.

Each of the cars has a name. Of the 49 at the depot, 24 are named after lakes, among them the Lake Huron, Lake Charn and Lake Augusta. Others have more exotic titles, such as Crusader Rose, Gorgeous Rose, Star Cluster and Prairie Road. Some carry Indian names: Cherokee, Chief Red Shield and Chief Little Shell.

Named After Generals

One is named for Hamilton College, and two for Army generals. The generals honored are Brig. Gen. Edward S. Godfrey and Brig. Gen. Henry Leavenworth. The history books show that General Godfrey, who was born in Kalida, Ohio, enlisted as a private with the Union forces during the War Between the States, entered the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1863 and graduated in 1867. He won the Congressional Medal of Honor for gallantry in action against the Indians while serving with General Custer. He also authored the book, "Custer's Last Battle."

General Leavenworth, born in New Haven in 1783, was commissioned a captain of infantry in 1812. In 1827 he founded the cantonment in Kansas that evolved into Fort Leavenworth. Leavenworth, now known as Leavenworth, is also the site of a Federal prison.

The cars, clustered together in the classification yard, are the responsibility of Transportation Division, with yardmaster Richard Walter in charge.

When they go for their monthly exercise, three other Transportation men take over—Edward Langan, conductor; Robert Scott, engineer, and William Keenapple, brakeman.

The men have gotten used to riding the "ghost" trains and are glad the Army has had no reason to call them into regular service. When that happens, they all agree, the country may be in for real trouble.

Rebels Planned Palace Bombing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The aerial attack on President Ngo Dinh Diem's palace was blamed yesterday on two air officers whose erratic rebellion misfired despite expert marksmanship with fire bombs, rockets and machine guns.

One wing of the palace was reduced to flaming ruin, several guards were wounded, and the sister-in-law of Diem, 61, was hurt slightly, but the president escaped.

What medium do teen-agers rate "most practical"?

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. In a recent study of teens made by Eugene Gilbert & Co., the daily newspaper was shown to be a big influence on their living and spending habits. When asked which medium they considered the most practical, 54% said it was the daily newspaper, while only 17% named TV. To advertisers who want to get their share of the $9 billion teen market, we say, "Tell it to the teens in the daily newspaper!"

PM Boosters
'Mothers'
In Revue

SWIFTWATER — Robert Lane, instrumental instructor of the Pocono Mountain Joint School has announced that members of the Music Boosters will participate as "Mothers of the Bride" for the repeat performance of the "Wedding Gown Revue" in the auditorium of the Swiftwater school tonight at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. William Horst and Mrs. Howard Curtis, Tannersville, will share the honors with Mrs. George Huguenin, Mountainhome, and Mrs. Fred Blythe, Tannersville. Mrs. Meade Gravel, Canadensis, will also serve as a hostess.

During the walk through rehearsal Monday night, polishing touches were added to the production. Madalyn Maloney double checked pertinent information about each gown with the bride or model. Bridal bouquets were arranged for each woman to carry as closely resembling the original as possible. Among the floral arrangements, Sherry Rees has designed several bouquets of dried flowers to fit in with the older gowns being shown.

Special lighting effects will be co-ordinated by R. Leland Wesner, choral director of the jointure. He has Alex Whitlow, Robert Huguenin, William Nauman and Dan Mager as volunteer helpers from the student body. The boys will handle spotlights and overhead lighting during the presentation of each gown, varying the colors to enhance colors and materials of the gowns.

The band will benefit from the proceeds. Red and white uniforms have been chosen by the music staff for the more than 80 band members. The approximate cost of one uniform is $70.20. Composing the band are ten each, juniors and seniors; 15 sophomores, 19 freshmen; 17 eighth graders and ten seventh graders. They are all members of the senior band. Other students are in the junior band and will take their places in the advanced group in the coming year.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for both adults and students from 7:45 p.m. tonight. Mrs. Marie LaBar will play selected organ melodies prior to the presenta-

AEC Okays Utilities' N-Power Plant

THE Atomic Energy Commission in Washington yesterday authorized construction of the world's first high-temperature gas-cooled nuclear power plant, to be a developmental, prototype project.

A group of 53 utilities, headed by Philadelphia Electric and including PP&L, comprises the research and development group. The Philadelphia utility will build, own and operate the plant. PP&L and other member companies are helping provide funds for research work preliminary to plant construction, according to Mr. Chas. E. Oakes, PP&L board chairman and chief executive officer.

The plant will be built on a 600-acre site at Peach Bottom, Pa., 63 miles southwest of Philadelphia on the west bank of the Susquehanna River. It will be a prototype with an electrical generating capacity of 40,000 kilowatts.

HTRDA's (High Temperature Reactor Development Associates, Inc.) 53 member companies comprise the largest group of utilities ever to support a nuclear power project. Their objective is to advance the technology of nuclear power generation and bring nearer the day when the atom will provide electricity competitive in cost with that produced from conventional, fossil-fueled sources.

When completed in mid-1964—according to present schedules—on the system of Philadelphia Electric Company, the new atomic plant will represent the first commercial application of a distinctly new and advanced concept of atomic power generation, known as the high-temperature, gas-cooled power reactor (HTGR).

The HTGR system has been under intensive development since 1957 by General Dynamics Corporation's General Atomic Division, at its laboratories in San Diego, California.

Third Grader Wins Talent Show Honors

NEWFOUNDLAND — A very small boy with a big talent walked off with first place honors at the talent show presented by the Class of 1963 at Southern Wayne Joint School recently.

John David Strupcowski, a third grader with a hot trumpet, topped the field. In second place was Inger Madsen, an eighth grader who played the Greig Concerto piano solo, and Bob Grimm, singing "Run, Sampson Run," took third place.

A good attendance despite bad weather was noted by the class. Robert Duty was master of ceremonies at the performance, with these contestants also appearing: Roger Bartleson, John Glaser, Louise Gilby, James Muller, Peggy Tobey, James Hutchins, Brenda Keiter, Mary Campbell, James Gilby, Gloria Bartleson, Nancy Krueger, Susan Akers, Margaret Campbell, Carol Zane, Martha Campbell and Lois Gilby.

At the close of the program, while judges Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gross, Mrs. Clayton Northup, Mrs. Lewis Eggert and Mrs. Terence Bartholomew were making their decision, Bob Strupcowski's school dance band including Terry Steph, Doug Smith, Lynn Beeseker, John David and Bob Strupcowski, Dennis Bartleson and Terence Bartholomew presented two selections. Elizabeth "Happy" Dugan danced the Charleston, complete with period costume, to the band's accompaniment.

A square dance and refreshments rounded out the evening.

Fallout Film Shown To N. F. Ladies

NEWFOUNDLAND — "Fallout in the Rural Areas" was the film shown during a special open meeting sponsored by the auxiliary of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post #26, American Legion, at Southern Wayne Joint School.

Franklin Meyers, Wayne County Director of Civil Defense, was unable to attend, and Mrs. Robert Rockfort, president of the auxiliary, spoke in his place.

She outlined the different phases of the auxiliary program, including sponsorship of Junior baseball, essay contests, sending a junior girl to Keytones Girls State each year, conducting public meetings of interest, and sponsoring a meeting on the study of flag etiquette.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

South Wayne Grad Plays In Concert

NEWFOUNDLAND: During the present presentation of "The Plain and Fancy" by the Bloomsburg Players and College Choraleers, Jean Mary Burdick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Burdick, was a member of the 17-piece band selected to play during the performance.

Her guest for the week was Miss Rita Robacker, of Newfoundland, a classmate from Southern Wayne Joint School. Both girls are 1961 graduates.

To Check Milk Radioactivity

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House passed a resolution Wednesday urging Congress to enact legislation prohibiting the sale of milk until any radioactive fall-out has been extracted.

The resolution was adopted, 100-34, over the objections of farm area legislators who claimed the publicity would have an adverse effect on the dairy industry.

Both Reps. E. J. Farbaugh, D-Cambria, and Donald W. Fox, R-Lawrence, said the industry already has suffered losses because of publicity concerning radioactive contamination of pasture lands and alleged effects of milk on the condition of the heart.

The resolution noted that fallout from the series of Russian atomic explosions last fall settles on grass eaten by dairy cattle and therefore affects their milk. It noted also that the federal government has devised a method for extracting such radioactive contamination from milk.

Revoke License Of Two Brokers

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Securities Commission Wednesday revoked the registration of two Wilkes-Barre securities salesmen for "having engaged in fraudulent practices" in violation of state law.

The commission identified the salesmen as John Henry Carr and Ann Patricia Gallagher, who were employed by Booker Brothers, Inc., a registered stock dealer.

The commission said it investigated the two individuals with full cooperation of the firm. It added: "The commission is continuing its investigation of the details and nature of their activities and will, if in the public interest, take such further action as the circumstances

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I may not have booked passage for Pisa — but I sure had a quick and pleasant trip to Mexico yesterday. The invitation from the sixth grade was formal — handwritten and hand-delivered, than which there is no greater compliment.

I was met at the door and conducted to the lunchroom, although the smells filtering up the stairs would have been guide enough — and must have started up early appetites in all the other grades to send them home starving.

The decorations and the costumes were delightful, and the food was authentic and most delicious. And my taste buds were right — they thought they recognized Margie Farmer's famous recipes — this time via Leonie Willholte.

One of the signs of growing up is a willingness to try new and unfamiliar foods and it was interesting to see how differently different children tackled that problem. I must say that as a rule, the girls cleaned up their plates much more thoroughly than the boys.

That might be because girls and women are naturally more adventurous gastronomically speaking. Or it might be because the girls had done much of the cooking. Somehow when you know all the delicious things that went into it, when you've stirred and chopped and mixed and sampled, your appetite is honed and ready.

One of my creeds is that the more things you really enjoy, the richer life can be whether it's in sports, hobbies, or food. People who hate baseball, crossword puzzles or chess can live rich and rewarding lives; but there are three fields in which they never will have a part, never be able to join in an argument about, never be diverted by, never tick their lips over.

Former Graduates Return For Concert To Benefit Stroud Youth Athletics

It will be like old home week when the varsity S presents the Combined Mixed Chorus and Male Chorus of the Jersey Central Power and Light Co. and the New Jersey Power and Light Co. in a concert on Tuesday, March 6 at 8 p.m. at Stroudsburg High School.

They have drafted two former members of the Stroudsburg teaching staff for the concert, the proceeds of which will benefit the Youth Athletic Club.

Both its director, Lorraine Merwin Miller, and its accompanist, Jack MacDonough, are not only graduates of Stroudsburg High School but both are former teachers.

The Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Miller has received international recognition, and recently was flown to Iceland to present a concert there.

Historical Russian Film To Be Shown

A Russian historical film will be the first in the Spring Series of International Films and will be shown at the college auditorium on Saturday night.

The feature film, "Alexander Nevsky" is an epic of medieval warfare centering around the famous "Battle of the Ice" in which Prince Alexander defended his free city-state of Novgorod.

Directed by Sergei Eisenstein, the film was termed by the New York Herald Tribune as "a high point in scenic pageantry."

The accompanying short feature, "The Emperor's New Clothes" is a German puppet production of Hans Christian Anderson's fairy tale of the vain and foolish king. There will be three films in the Spring series which is sponsored on a non-profit basis by a World Film committee.

Subscription tickets for all three performances will be on sale at the door, as well as individual tickets. Other films in the series will include the Swedish film, "The Seventh Seal," directed by Ingmar Bergman on April 14; and "Gate of Hell," Japanese on May 5.

MERCED RIVER, YOSEMITE VALLEY. Painted by Albert Bierstadt (1830-1902). Courtesy of the Metropolitan Museum of Art Gift of the sons of William Paton, 1909.

Art Of Seeing

By Marcia Clapp

DO YOU have a painting which resembles a photograph hanging on your walls? Are you happy with a painting which "nearly looks" like nature?

If your taste turns to this type of painting you will be pleased to meet Albert Bierstadt who spent his lifetime painting nature as exactly as a brush could convey it. In fact, he predates today's photographers who rove the world recording scenic beauties.

This painting of the Merced River, is a large canvas measuring thirty by fifty inches which is a factual account of a tranquil scene whose immobility is disturbed only by a tiny canoe and some onlookers standing on the large rock at the edge of the river.

Consummate Skill

Analysis of the composition reveals consummate skill in organization. A diagonal line entering at the bottom along the edge of the river meets the strong dark vertical of the trees which projects our attention to the repeated verticals of the distant mountains. The horizontal flow of clouds leads the eye across the top returning us to the dark cliffs and trees under whose shadows a pack of horses rest.

American taste during the nineteenth century demanded authenticity and accuracy of detail such as this rather than County.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BUSTER BROWN

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—The Afrikaans newspaper Die Oosterlig reported Wednesday that a piece of metal, possibly from a space rocket, had been found in the Nieuwpoort district, about 250 miles north of here.

It was described as a round piece of metal, weighing about 47 pounds. Last week another piece of metal, weighing three pounds, was found in the northeastern town of Alwal North and was handed over to the United States.

These grandiose versions of American scenic wonders were received with great acclaim and sold for sums from $5,000 to $35,000. However, viewed today they seem too realistic as tastes have changed since a whole century has elapsed.

Too often this style of painting done by the Hudson River School is disparaged and its idealization of nature and romantic spirits is overlooked.

The department also called for bids March 20 for operation of food and refreshment concessions at Sizer's State Park, Cameron County.

Who ever thought a car that saves like this could have so much sizzle? Chevrolet engineers, that's who! Liveliness and luxury for a low, low price were exactly what they had in mind to begin with. And they began from scratch with a whole carload of ingenious new ideas designed to give you more car for your money. That spunky 6 with gas-sipping stinginess is just one example. Another: a new unitized Body by Fisher that's fit for a full-size family inside, easy to park outside. Still another: tough but gentle one-piece Mono-Plate rear springs that outdo many a bigger car for quiet comfort. And along with the dollar-saving dependability you just naturally expect in a Chevrolet-built car, Chevy II has a flock of features that cut upkeep costs to the bone. For example, the various front-end components—fenders, engine compartment, the works—bolt on and off to make repairing easy. Any wonder Chevy II won Car Life magazine's 1962 Engineering Excellence award hands down? (The only wonder would be if you settled for anything less—once you get your hands on one at your Chevrolet dealer's)

Lloyd After Loop Record Here Tonight

RUSS Hopewell will add points to his basketball record and Bloomsburg's Dick Lloyd will try to regain a record tonight, when Bloomsburg and East Stroudsburg State meet at College Hill tonight.

It is an important game for both clubs. Bloomsburg is fighting for the Eastern Division title of the Pennsylvania State College Conference and East Stroudsburg is trying to put together a better than .500 season.

The Warriors carry a 9-10 mark in tonight's game, the last appearance of the season at home. The club closes its season Saturday at Mansfield.

Tonight's game will also be the last home one for seniors Hopewell, Scott Weaver and Bob Sweeten.

Had 46 Points

Hopewell scored 46 points Tuesday night, to become the highest scorer in Warrior history. He has 1,415 points, three better than Charley German's total set from 1954 to 1958.

Lloyd held the conference's single season scoring record of 338 points until Tuesday, when Cheyney's Ed Williams hit for 37 points against the Warriors, to bring his seasonal total to 381.

Lloyd has 321 points going into tonight's game and without another conference game remaining Saturday could regain his old record.

Levane Says Pettit Only Bright Spot

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Pettit, who scored 15,000 points faster than anyone in National Basketball Association history, was described Wednesday by his coach as "an all-all-all time great."

Coch Fuzzy Levane said the 6-8 Pettit "does everything the way a player should."

Pettit has "been the only bright spot this year," the coach of the fourth-place St. Louis Hawks said.

Pettit hit the 15,000 mark in eight seasons. He sank 10 more points before the Hawks lost to the Philadelphia Warriors 147-137 Tuesday night.

Schayes Leads

The only NBA players ahead of him are Dolph Schayes, Syracuse, 18,488 points in 14 seasons; Paul Arizin of Philadelphia, 16,171 in 10 seasons, and Boston's Bob Cousy, 15,850 in 12 seasons.

The All-American from Louisiana State will be honored Friday at "Bob Pettit Night."

This has been Pettit's finest year but he says "I don't feel that I've been any better than any other year. But maybe if we were winning I'd feel different."

"When the team's going good, you don't notice the fatigue that's bound to catch up with you at this stage of the schedule," Pettit said after Tuesday night's loss—the 47th against 24 victories.

Because of the Hawk's slump, Pettit has been playing more minutes this season than in any previous year.

"We are eager to get the Russians as well as players from other iron curtain countries," Eagan, a one-time Olympic boxing champion, told the U.S. Tennis Writers Association. "Any country in the United Nations is eligible."

Russia announced it would compete for the Davis Cup for the first time this year.

Less enthusiastic about the possible Soviet invasion was Bryan Field, chairman of the USLTA's Public Relations Committee.

"I don't mind the Australians dominating tennis as they do," he told the writers' meeting. "I do mind the Russians coming in with their state-supported athletes—pros, if you will—and winning the Davis Cup."

Eagan's committee is cooperating with the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, and the West Side Tennis Club in the so-called "operation tennis lift"—a campaign to make the national tournament

2nd Warrior Loss

Rams Smash 9 Pool Records In Dunking E. Stroudsburg

WEST Chester State College rewrote the East Stroudsburg State College pool record book last night, in scoring an easy 42-21 swimming victory.

The Rams won all but one event and set nine pool records. The only time the once beaten Rams failed to crack a record in winning an event was the 440-yard freestyle.

Bob Fraim collected East Stroudsburg's lone victory. He won the 220-yard butterfly in 2:45. But West Chester won second and third place, to almost offset the Warrior points.

The Rams, who have lost only to Navy this year, started their record assault in the first event, the medley relay. West Chester almost 13 seconds off the mark.

Thieler Doubles

In the 220-yard freestyle, Tom Thieler, one of two West Chester double winners, clipped two and six-tenths seconds off the mark.

The 50-yard freestyle proved the toughest of the record breakers.

Tim Hauff, another double winner chopped only a tenth of a second off the record, which was held by Dennis Pistoll and Dick Wolslayer. Pistoll was second in last night's event.

Another Warrior, Rick Lobs saw his record broken, when Bill Ellis clocked a 2:22 individual medley.

The Warriors' John Jacobi factored his first loss of the year in the diving and also lost his record of 228.5 points. Henry Thompson won the event with 232.5 points.

The Rams clipped 1.2 seconds off the record in the 100-yard freestyle, 4.3 off the 200-yard backstroke; 5.7 off the 200-yard breaststroke and 4.1 seconds off the freestyle relay.

The loss was the second in six meets for the Warriors.

Chartered Plane

Eighty leading European players will be picked up in a chartered plane, flown to the United States for the tournament and then flown back. The transportation and expenses during a three-week stay will be fully paid by the sponsoring groups.

"We are eager to get the Russians as well as players from other iron curtain countries," Eagan, a one-time Olympic boxing champion, told the U.S. Tennis Writers Association. "Any country in the United Nations is eligible."

Russia announced it would compete for the Davis Cup for the first time this year.

Less enthusiastic about the possible Soviet invasion was Bryan Field, chairman of the USLTA's Public Relations Committee.

"I don't mind the Australians dominating tennis as they do," he told the writers' meeting. "I do mind the Russians coming in with their state-supported athletes—pros, if you will—and winning the Davis Cup."

Foss Picked Because Of Pull In DC

BALTIMORE (AP)—One of the factors in selecting Joseph Foss as commissioner of the new American Football League was his "connections in Washington," AFL founder Lamar Hunt testified Wednesday.

Hunt directed the search for a league commissioner after the late Bert Bell, then National Football League commissioner, refused the job in the summer of 1959.

He said Foss' connections were not uppermost in my mind, but were in the minds of other AFL owners."

Foss Next

Foss, a former governor of South Dakota, was appointed AFL commissioner in December 1959.

AFL attorneys said Wednesday

Foss would be the next witness called in their $10-million antitrust suit against the NFL. Cross-examination of Hunt completed the third day of the trial in U.S. District Court, expected to last about three months.

Defense attorney Gearhard A. Geissel's cross-examination of the 29-year-old owner of the Dallas Texans was concerned in a large part with the period of time in which Hunt first decided to bring monopoly charges against the NFL.

Barrett Bowling Center won 3-1 from Geo. N. Kemp Post 346, at the American Legion Lanes. M. Bridge with a 207-530 was high for Barrett and L. McGowan's 211-564 high for the Post 346.

Twin City Television met Lake House at Colonial Lanes where it also lost 3-1. Twin City, the league leader, had dropped 7 of its last eight points which gives Lake House an outside chance to catch Twin City. R. Dishman had his best match of the season with a 215-608 for Lake House. Moon Keeper kept his average among the top five by leading Twin City with a 207-592.

Try For 'Honeymoon'!

Dear Abby: We are a "middle-aged" couple who have just finished raising a large family. My husband's earning power has been low, so it has been a struggle. We have looked forward to doing things together with our newfound freedom from raising a family. We've put a little savings away, too. Now I find that one of my married daughters is having serious trouble with her husband. They were married 10 years. She says life with him is intolerable for her and her three children. She wants to come "home" to me. How can I turn my back on my child now? Yet I can't face having a household like Abby, my husband and I are still waiting for that honeymoon we never had. It looks like we'll have to start all over again and I'm so mixed up and tired. Help me.

The cab was flattened by the impact, but Melody escaped virtually unhurt. He was found wandering near the wreck in a dazed condition.

Melody was driving the empty flatbed tractor-trailer along rain-soaked Route 17 when he saw an overturned oil tanker on the road ahead.

He slammed on his brakes and the big rig went into a skid and plunged through a gap in a divided highway bridge.

The cab, with Melody inside, dropped through the gap in the bridge and crashed to the ground 40 feet below along the railroad tracks. The trailer remained wedged in the bridge above.

Green Thumb*Indoor Gardening

By George Abraham

CITRUS FRUITS: What causes blossoms on indoor citrus to drop? There are many reasons for this: hot dry air, dry soils, natural shedding of unpollinated flowers and shedding of male blossoms.

Outdoors, citrus plants are pollinated by insects and wind. Indoors, you don't have these factors, so it's sometimes helpful to pollinate the blossoms manually. Take a soft hair Camel's brush and transfer pollen from one flower to another, keeping in mind that the female floral part (stigma) sometimes extends beyond the male parts.

That means you should transfer the pollen to the tip end of the protruding stigma for effective pollination. With proper "catch", young fruit should start to form within a week after pollination.

Rose of Sharon: Examples of later blooming shrubs. Lilacs, forsythias and Spirea van Houtte are examples of early blooming shrubs.

In pruning, be a "barber", not a "butcher". Take out dead or twiggy growth that rubs or criss-crosses with one another. Weeping plants (such as forsythia) are apt to cry in anguish if you try to shear them into a ball.

PRUNING SHRUBS: Tired of all the "pruning rules" for shrubs? Then throw them out the window and memorize this one simple rule:

Spring flowering shrubs are pruned after they blossom in the spring, and summer or fall flowering shrubs are trimmed in the spring before growth starts. Simple?

Some items such as lilac, mock orange and weigela (y-gee-la) produce lots of seed, a drain on the plant. Removing the flowering heads or pruning after flowering diverts energy for new growth and for setting of flower buds for next year's show.

Anthony Waterer spirea and

GLOXINIAS: Pot your tubers in a sand, peat, loam mix which has been baked in an oven for 1/2 hour at 250 degs. F. Water them cautiously until roots and leaves become established. Glloxinias need a brighter window than do African violets. A shortage of light causes leaves to stretch up and grow lopsided. Dry rooms will cause buds to remain unopened.

You can often budge your buds into bloom by placing the pot inside a larger one, and packing damp peat moss between the two. Floppy leaves mean too much water.

SUNFLOWERS: These may be a coarse item to grow but they still add much to a garden, maybe because they remind us of the old days. Sunflowers make a fine hedge, nice background plant and still provide food for birds.

Most sunflower buffs are not familiar with the double type (called Sungold), a joy all summer long. The brilliant double golden-yellow flowers are produced on man-sized stalks (5' or so), and the flowers aren't so coarse.

The mammoth sunflower commonly grown shoots up as high as 15 feet, and heads so heavy they bend over. Actually it's a good thing the heads do bend as it keeps moisture out and prevents rotting.

Cheescloth or ventilated plastic sheets wrapped over heads in late summer prevents birds from eating seeds before they ripen. Moldy seeds can be prevented by holding heads before a fan to remove moisture.

AFRICAN VIOLETS: Are your leaves anemic, bleached or yellowish? This could mean too much light, either artificial or natural. Other symptoms of excess light: distortion of center leaves, shortened stems near center, and droopiness, as if the plants wanted protection from light.

Spoon-leaved types tend to flatten out. In some cases flowering will stop entirely. Too little light causes legginess, grayish foliage instead of a husky dark green, and soft succulent (juicy) leaves and stems. A shortage of light causes more non-blooming than any other factor.

A good husky violet should perform the year around since it doesn't have a dormant period. If you use lights for your violets keep in mind that white lights stimulate blooming, whereas bluish or cool white light discourages blooming, and encourages strong, heavy dark leaves.

In other words, the bluish or cool type fluorescent light encourages early blooming, and white light tends to produce short, stocky plants.

There are dozens of ways to use lights on Violets. Start out with 2 40-watt fluorescent tubes, and see what luck you have. A friend of mine uses two 40-watt coolwhite tubes and 40 watt incandescent bulbs.

BAMBOO: Will gardeners who grow the "Giant Bamboo" (Arundinaria donax) please write and tell our readers where they can buy rootstocks of the plants? Several have written me for information regarding this item for growing regarding this item for growing of your house plants, so before you go to bed at night, move your flowering plants to a cool room, the exception being African violets, glloxinias and related items.

Another point to keep in mind is that feeding is not a substitute for other cultural practices such as watering, repotting, lighting, etc. Plants that lack light, humidity, or which are in a hot dry room, or which are pot bound cannot be expected to grow lustily simply by feeding them extra plant food.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: F.

R. of Stroudsburg: "Recently you said that Evening Scented Stock was Nicotiana (flowering tobacco). You are wrong. It is Matthiola. These plants are not the same."

Common names are always misleading. Flowering Tobacco (Nicotiana) is sometimes referred to as Evening Scented Stock. This item has a heavenly aroma in the evening, hence its name. The Sweet scented Stock (Matthiola) is also called "Evening Scented Stock" because it too produces delicate fragrance in the evening.

The 10 weeks stock bloom all summer from seed sown outdoors in May. Cool nights of late summer produces more flowers on longer stems. Plants grow 15 inches tall, and have a high percentage of double flowers. Ideal for cut flowers.

The 10 weeks stock have a great ability to take summer weather, blooming when only 6 inches high, and in seven weeks. Flowers come in white, pink, red, azure, dark blue and creamy yellow. After a shower the spicy fragrance is even more noticeable.

R.D. of Bartonsville: "Please tell us how to start bittersweet vines. We have one that doesn't bear and think it needs a mate."

Bittersweet (Celastrus scandens) does have separate sexes. That is, there is both male and female bushes. If yours happens to be a male, new plants from it will be males and you'll still get no berries. I'd buy female plants from a nursery. One or two males are sufficient to pollinate any number of fruiting vines about your home.

If you have small or imperfect clusters each fall, chances are your female vine needs the benefit of a male vine. As a temporary measure you can cut some branches from a male vine in June, place these in a bottle of water and place in a vicinity of a fruiting or female vine. After 2 weeks, bees and wind will pollinate the fruit-bearing flowers (pistillate) and you should have some nice big fat orange berried vines.

You can start new vines simply by allowing the tips to touch the ground, then covering with soil. Or you can take cuttings and root in sand in spring.

G.H. of Portland: "I recently read that rhubarb was unhealthy for you. The article said the plants contained harmful oxalic acid. Is that true?"

That's pure hogwash. The leaves of this delicious herb are poisonous, and they do contain oxalic acid, but who eats leaves? Rhubarb is good for the teeth, and every home owner should have a patch. Two good varieties to set out this spring include Valentine and Canada Red.

By William A. Doyle
I bought some Barbizon Refractories common stock a good number of years ago. I received additional shares, as the result of stock splits and stock dividends. A while back, I sold some of my shares.

Mixup In Records

question would be upon the transfer agent—whose name appears on the certificates. In your letter explain what has happened. List the certificate numbers, the number of shares represented by each certificate and the date on each certificate.

The transfer agent will naturally want to get its records straight. And, when things are squared away, you'll receive the dividends on those three shares—dividends you never collected.

When I buy stock, what is there to prevent my broker from buying for me at one price, on the stock exchange, and charging me a higher price and a commission, besides? Is there any foolproof protection for investors against such shenanigans?

But, somehow, the record books of the transfer agent list you as the owner of only 58 shares. Assuming that you are the rightful owner of 61 shares, the three shares on which you do not receive dividends were never credited to your account by the transfer agent.

This foul-up could have happened in a number of ways. A good guess would be that the three shares were not entered in the transfer agent's record of your ownership when a stock dividend was paid.

If you order your broker to sell 61 shares and if you turn over to the broker the properly-endorsed certificates for those shares, the broker will sell 61 shares for you.

Those certificates are your proof of ownership. At that point, the burden of disproving your ownership of the three shares in tried.

Two Major Changes Slated In Penney's Credit Plan

TWO major changes in Penney's credit plan designed to increase customer convenience were announced yesterday by James L. Brown, Stroudsburg store manager.

The changes, which go into effect on Monday, March 5, are as follows:

—Monthly payments on charge accounts of customers who wish to spread payments over a period of time have been reduced to one-tenth of the balance of the account. Minimum payments formerly varied from one-fourth to one-sixth of the total balance.

Penney's charge account is a 30-day charge account which permits a customer to pay an account in full within 30 days of billing date without a service charge. The plan provides an option for customers who wish to spread payments over a longer period. Customers who exercise this option will benefit from the change, which will require payment of only one-tenth of the balance each month, according to Brown.

—Payments for major home purchases made with a Penney time payment account have been extended to a maximum of 24 months compared with the former 18 months. This account is designed specifically for major purchases of home furnishings having a minimum unit price of $45.

Penney's credit plan makes available to customers the most convenient types of charge accounts and time payment plans. Brown said that Penney's offering of charge accounts in no way alters the Company's long-standing low markup policy for customers who wish to continue to make purchases on a cash-and-carry basis.

The changes, which go into effect on Monday, March 5, are as follows:
